2. With regard to the language, all the elements marked above were available or furnished to this Authority in the language in which the international application was filed, unless otherwise indicated under this item.

These elements were available or furnished to this Authority in the following language: , which is:

- ☐ the language of a translation furnished for the purposes of the international search (under Rule 23.1(b)).
- ☐ the language of publication of the international application (under Rule 48.3(b)).
- ☐ the language of a translation furnished for the purposes of international preliminary examination (under Rule 55.2 and/or 55.3).

3. With regard to any nucleotide and/or amino acid sequence disclosed in the international application, the international preliminary examination was carried out on the basis of the sequence listing:

- ☐ contained in the international application in written form.
- ☐ filed together with the international application in computer readable form.
- ☐ furnished subsequently to this Authority in written form.
- ☐ furnished subsequently to this Authority in computer readable form.
- ☐ The statement that the subsequently furnished written sequence listing does not go beyond the disclosure in the international application as filed has been furnished.
- ☐ The statement that the information recorded in computer readable form is identical to the written sequence listing has been furnished.

4. The amendments have resulted in the cancellation of:

☐ the drawings, sheets:

5. ☐ This report has been established as if (some of) the amendments had not been made, since they have been considered to go beyond the disclosure as filed (Rule 70.2(c)):

(Any replacement sheet containing such amendments must be referred to under item 1 and annexed to this report.)

6. Additional observations, if necessary:

V. Reasoned statement under Article 35(2) with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement

1. Statement

Novelty (N)	Yes:	Claims	1-35
	No:	Claims	36-41
Inventive step (IS)	Yes:	Claims	1-35
	No:	Claims	36-41
Industrial applicability (IA)	Yes:	Claims	36-41
	No:	Claims	1-35

2. Citations and explanations
see separate sheet

VIII. Certain observations on the international application

The following observations on the clarity of the claims, description, and drawings or on the question whether the claims are fully supported by the description, are made:
see separate sheet

R Item V

Reasoned statement under Article 35(2) with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement

1. The following documents are cited:
D1: WO 98 39416 A
D2: WO 98 57538 A
D3: WO 97 07668 A
D4: WO 97 07669 A
2. The present application does not satisfy the criterion set forth in Article 33(1)(2) PCT because the subject-matter of claims 36-41 is not new. These claims 36-41 define products in terms of processes for their preparation and lack novelty over each of the documents D1, D2, D3 and D4. A product is not rendered novel merely by the fact that it is produced by a novel process.
3. The methods of claims 1-35 are considered to be both novel and inventive over the available prior art. D1 appears to represent the closest prior art document. The method of claim 1 requires that a nucleus is transferred into an oocyte and removed before mitotic cell division occurs, whereas in D1, the recipient of the first nuclear transfer step is allowed to develop into a multi-cell embryo (see especially step (c) in Figure 2 of D1). The technical problem to be solved is seen in the provision of further methods of cloning animals. The post-published evidence submitted by the Applicant shows that this problem has actually been solved. Since it does not appear to be derivable from any of the available prior art documents to perform the second nuclear transfer step at an early stage, an inventive step can be acknowledged.
4. For the assessment of the present claims 1-35 on the question whether they are industrially applicable, no unified criteria exist in the PCT Contracting States. The patentability can also be dependent upon the formulation of the claims. The EPO, for example, does not recognize as industrially applicable the subject-matter of claims to the use of a compound in medical treatment, but may allow, however, claims to a known compound for first use in medical treatment and the use of such a compound for the manufacture of a medicament for a new medical treatment.

EXAMINATION REPORT - SEPARATE SHEET

Re Item VIII

Certain observations on the international application

5. Claims 36-41 define products in terms of processes for their preparation, which is only considered to be clear if there is no other information available in the application which could enable the applicant to define the product satisfactorily by reference to its composition, structure or other testable parameters.
6. The claims include human cloning methods and human embryos in their scope. Therefore, the present IPEA considers the claimed invention to be contrary to morality.
